How Are Companies Displayed?

A 11/13/2018 – Jill McPhee

“ We needed a roofing company to repair a leak on the roof and most of the companies I called either sent my call to voicemail and never called back or were too busy or rude. The first call to Martineau was answered promptly and a very nice lady told me someone would contact us the following week. Dan from the company came by as promised to check the roof which had lasted for 20 years. The leak had supposedly been fixed by a man from one of the online referral services referred by one of the big box stores, and as it turned out, he did nothing. Dan inspected the roof and it did need to be replaced. The work was started the first day of November as promised, and the guys were on time every day, they worked their butts off, and did a fantastic job. Everyone with the company was right on top of things, they did exactly what they said they would do for a VERY competitive price. I would highly recommend this company for any construction job which they do. It doesn't take a rocket scientist (no offense) to see that they certainly deserve the A+ rating with the Better Business Bureau.
