How many employees does your company currently have? Do you have offices in different States?

We have 40 employees and only have offices in NY; however, we service nationwide and have international capabilities.

What inspired the business and where is your company today?

Mobile Media started out as a storage resource for the media industry prior to electronic filing and technological advances. VHS tapes and documents needed to be filed and we supplied a space saving product. Since electronic filing arose and physical storage is not needed as much for those reasons, Mobile Media has evolved and currently supplies to other industries such as retail, sporting, hospitality, food service and administration where necessary.

In which geographic area did you complete the majority of your projects?

Primarily we service North America. We have supplied in all 50 states as well as Mexico, Canada and some international.

Is your company specialized in completing projects in a specific industry, e.g. Food & Beverage?

The retail industry is our primary clientele at the moment but any industry that wants to increase storage capacity can benefit from our product.

Tell us about one specific project you worked on and which challenges you solved?

A project where we encountered challenges was where we arrived ready to install our product and the room dimensions were not as anticipated per the architect's drawings. We had to adapt the custom designed system on site with various cutting and modifications to the shelving units. The client's expected capacity ended up different from what was in accordance with the drawings, but we creatively were able to additionally maximize their storage by using other wall spaces and rearranging additional BOH equipment for the client. To make matters worse, this job was in California and our main shipping facility is in New York. Overnighting extra parts would have been very costly to the client. To compensate for this we utilized our west coast partnership facility to quickly and inexpensively get them the materials they needed to conclude conquering the room dimension challenge.

Which milestones are you planning to achieve in the next 12 months?

We are looking to break into other industries such as horticulture, but we also want to focus on nurturing our current industries further to continue working on becoming a standard in those industries.
