

Sinars Rollins

Sinars Rollins is a civil claims law firm that was looking to create a lasting identity through a customized environment.

Sinars Rollins needed a work space that was functional, unique, and focused. As a rapidly expanding law firm, they required a larger office with growth potential. Sinars Rollins also wanted to create spaces that fostered collaboration and provided an enjoyable work environment.

The Interior Investments team, together with the Sinars Rollins Leadership team, spent a lot of time together focusing on the specific needs of the firm. We were able to meet their requirements by using a wide variety of products from Herman Miller, OFS, National, and more. This allowed us to create a customizable space that has something for everyone to enjoy!

The 21,500 square foot space also features unique design elements such as a custom media wall and lounge area that leads into a collaborative meeting space. These multifunctional areas were vital to the success of the project.

“We truly enjoyed working with Interior Investments. Their easeful nature and resourceful team made the process very smooth and enjoyable.”
