Reference: Watergate Painting

To Whom It May Concern:

I am pleased to provide a reference on Dave and Darlene Tillem - Watergate Painting. They are an exceptional painting company. I have personally known the Tillems professionally for over a decade and they are true experts in their own field. When given a project they have the knowledge and experience in selecting the highest quality products for the need thus resulting in long term savings for our organization.

Many companies cut cost on quality products to save money for a short-term effect, thus repeating the process not long after. Dave and Darlene will recommend the best possible solution for your need, therefore extending the life of the paint work.

I love the fact that they are so customer-focused and there is no job too big or too small they can't handle. Their staff are courteous and respectful and adhere to any safety or customer requests. I would recommend Watergate to anyone that have painting needs. They have much pride in their work and it shows!
