Dear Sirs,

I am writing to recommend the work of Golden Crown Contractors based upon several successful past experiences. We have worked with Golden Crown over the years on multiple academic spaces at Princeton University, including the StudioLab for the Council of Science and Technology. The CST StudioLab was an exciting but complicated project that needed to serve the needs of several schools, including engineering, dance, music, broadcasting and robotics. With so many stakeholders, it's easy for a project to get derailed, but Golden Crown successfully delivered this multi-faceted space on time and on budget. They're great partners, choosing to work as a team with their clients and the designers, to resolve the inevitable issues that arise on all construction projects. The offer thoughtful solutions and are willing to work through options to find the ideal solution. We would highly recommend their services for your current and future projects.

Sincerely,

Jamie Doran, LEED AP BD&C
