Canyon Ledge

Canyon Ledge connects rustic comfort to artistic style. Carved from the landscape of a naturally worn and weathered rock shelf, this style adds native warmth to any setting through layers of texture and color.

Cascade Ledge

This versatile style works well with all types of architecture, especially contemporary settings. A mix of ledge stones and cobble jumpers fit tightly together to create long, clean lines with a detailed face texture.

Colonial Brick

Brick veneer lends a stately appearance to interiors and exteriors alike. Available in a variety of colors, brick veneer is a popular alternative to traditional brick because of its lighter weight and lower cost to install.

Cut Cobblestone

This beautiful profile mirrors the classic look of rough-dressed stone. The chiseled face, rectangular shapes and irregular sizes create an old-world look and feel. Available in a variety of colors, the effect is elegant and timeless.

Fieldstone

Fieldstone features random shapes with smooth to slightly rugged faces and is accentuated with a grouted mortar joint. The effect is an informal, natural look that's equally at home in traditional and contemporary settings.

Manorstone

This rustic style combines field and ledge stones with a smooth, split face. Varied shapes and sizes create a natural, organic look that works well in virtually any setting: interior or exterior, modern or traditional.

Shadow Ledge

Molded from a Civil War fence-row, this profile has a craggy texture and warm earth tones that create an organic, rustic appearance.

True Stack™

Individual stacked stones are molded into panels of varying lengths. The result is a tight-fitting, dry-stacked style with a rugged texture.
