To whom it may concern:

I have worked with Dirtworks for the last year on a brand new ground up 8.5 Acre 50,000 sq ft medical facility. This company is nothing but service oriented. From the state of the art estimating software that was able to identify errors in design and quantities, to the shovel man working all night on a utility tie-in on a closed street. The owner of the company is hands on, checks in with the team regularly to make sure things go smooth. The Foreman Pat runs a tight ship, ensuring the company is safe, manning the project correctly and on time.

I am confident that this company will be a contributing factor in the success of whatever venture it takes on. You want these guys as part of your team!

For any further questions or discussion, please feel free to contact me at any of the above locations.
