Regarding Piece Management Inc.
To whom it may Concern:

I have worked with PMI (Piece Management Inc) for over 20 years across 4 brands in three separate companies all within the broader restaurant and service industry, an industry that is very hard on vendors.

My association with PMI has been positive. What stands out for PMI is their high level of customer service and their approach to projects in a win-win mindset. Many general contractors look at projects for straight dollars and how much profit can be extracted from a given project. PMI looks to foster long term relationships that allow both customer and vendor to prosper. PMI takes ownership for their jobs and truly looks to do right when they are servicing their clients.
