New Fort Wayne Dining Spot Brings Thai-Fusion to Downtown

Jan. 29, 2018 FORT WAYNE, Ind. – As plans are being developed for dramatic improvements to downtown Fort Wayne, a new restaurant has opened its doors in the heart of the action. After architect MSKTD completed some preliminary design work, building owner Mark Millet, restaurant co-owner Prill Chaisuthi and Mosaic Building Solutions collaborated to ultimately develop NAWA, a Thai-fusion restaurant newly opened on first floor of The Landing.

The restaurant's owners wanted to bring a unique dining experience to match the energy and individuality of downtown Fort Wayne and the people who live, work and play there every day. They made that happen by creating a space that is as functional as it is visually interesting. The upper level main dining area and the lower level, which houses a variety of spaces for private dining, offices, storage and more, both feature the original brick perimeter walls to maintain the history of this structure.

NAWA, which means "New Beginning" in Thai, opened to a select number of customers between Christmas and New Year's Day, then opened to the general public in early January. Diners can enjoy this new establishment Monday through Saturday, and full hours and menu can be found at nawa.live.
