To Whom It May Concern:

LED Roadway Lighting has been a client of Schooley Mitchell Telecom Consultants and specifically, John Campbell, since October 2017.

John, and the entire team at Schooley Mitchel, has worked diligently on reducing our telecommunications costs related to Cellular and Audio Conferencing. The entire team has always been professional and direct in his negotiations with our communications providers, and has always worked hard to get the best deal possible for LED Roadway Lighting.

Based on the efforts of Schooley Mitchell, we are expecting telecom savings of over 20% over the next three years. The process was effortless, with Schooley Mitchel doing all the negotiations and most of the work to make the necessary changes to the accounts. Schooley Mitchell was there to support us during any transitions, ensuring everything continued to run smoothly.

If your company is struggling to reduce its telecommunications costs then I would recommend that you consider using the services of John Campbell at Schooley Mitchell Consultants.

Yours truly,

Harlyn Porter
