I have known Jon Leet of Schooley Mitchell for more than 20 years but I was skeptical about his claims to save our company money on our telecommunications costs; I was quite confident that we had the very best pricing options available.

Much to my surprise, Jon found an additional 15% savings across the board keeping us with the same providers. In addition to the documented savings Jon has provided me with a number of ideas to help me increase my savings. Not only were our costs for these services lowered, but the quality of service was improved as well.

In addition to the fact that there was no risk and no upfront investment to have Schooley Mitchell perform the analysis, I know that I can rely on Jon to analyse the new offers and promotions to ensure that we always have the best pricing for the best in class services available in the marketplace.

I would recommend Jon Leet and Schooley Mitchell to any business that wants to save money and time, knowing that they are always receiving the best in class services at the lowest available prices.

Sincerely,

Gary Anderson
