To Whom It May Concern,

I am pleased to express my support for the team at Double R Excavating, Inc.

In September 2020, the City of Aurora contracted with Double R to construct an extension of the Toll Gate Creek Trail. This project consisted of a two-mile long, ten-foot-wide concrete trail, and involved extensive earthwork, multiple retaining walls, drainage improvement, and underpass lighting. The budget was approximately 3.2 million dollars and was partially funded through a grant from the Federal Highway Administration.

Throughout construction, we encountered unexpected field conditions that required multiple changes in scope. Double R provided valuable input when addressing these challenges, and demonstrated the flexibility needed to keep the project moving. The team was timely in delivering the extensive documentation required for projects involving Federal funds. The finished product is a much-needed improvement to the City's trail system and will be a valuable asset to PROS for years to come.

Double R has proven to be an exceptional and reliable partner to the City, and we look forward to working with them on many more projects.

Sincerely,

Zachary Nover
