American Stair & Rail installed the stair treads, railings and balusters in ou home. Originally, another contractor was supposed to lay down the tread: and landing but in the last minute we asked American Stair to take over tl job. And they did so with great expertise and in the end it looked like a m bucks. We met with Renee at their Lakewood showcase and she went ov our options. Upon speaking with me, she immediately was able to pinpoint my design taste and picked out all the right things. When we were stuck trying to choose between 2 baluster types, she ordered samples from the American Stair and Rail Artisans designed, furnished and installed a beautiful curved staircase for our home in Freehold, NJ. They showed incredible professionalism from beginning to the end. The owners personally got involved during the design and installation phase to make sure our experience and finished product is acceptable to us. Their installers are exceptional masters at what they do and it shows in their work. If you have staircase project no matter how small or big, you will make a mistake if you do not hire American Stair and Rail Artisans.

In February 2014 we received a reasonable estimate from American Stair Rail to re-tread our staircase with oak treads and risers, as well as replace railings and balusters. We also agreed to provide wood flooring for our two landings to be installed by them (labor quoted in estimate).

We signed the contract were told the job would take two days and was scheduled to start on March 5th.

I had made an appointment for an estimate on a Wednesday between 12 - 2 - Peter was supposed to come by. By 2pm, no one had shown up. I called Renee, and she told me she would try to get in touch with Peter. At 2:45, I hadn't heard back, so I called to find out what had happened. She said she still hadn't heard from him and would get back to me. At 3:10 I hadn't heard back, so I called her to let her know I had to pick up my kids from school ; wanted to know what was going on. She promised she would get back to me and let me know what happened, but the type of behavior was very

American Stairs and Rail have been in business in central Jersey for a long time. They are a wonderful family owned and operated business serving customers as family. Their salesmen, secretaries, and showroom designers know how to make someone feel comfortable, welcomed, and respected.

My experience with them over the past 8-9 years has been very positive. Their design is always perfect, and the delivery of products and installation is always on time (and sometimes ahead of time).
