Chuck,

I am writing you today to both extend our thanks and to provide an update on the Emory University Hospital Southeast Corner Addition project.

First, on behalf of the entire project team here at Gay Construction Company, we appreciate the responsiveness, responsibility, and the level of diligence you exhibited in participating in the bidding of this project. We consider you to be an expert in your respective field, and we knew exactly who to contact to assemble a team for this project because of your strong background and relationship with Gay Construction.

We met with the Emory team Friday afternoon (3/14) and delivered a complete budget package presentation. Emory had a favorable response and has requested more detailed pricing information, which we sent over yesterday. Our team here will be certain to keep you updated on any progress as this project takes shape and continues to develop. We look forward to sharing that information and to working with you on this and future projects.

Sincerely,

Allison W. Galloway
