Re: Bonding

Dear Ron:

For the last four years I have had the pleasure of handling the bonding needs for your company. During this timeframe, single bonds have been written for jobs ranging in dollar sizes of $40,000.00 to $1,500,000.00 with an aggregate total backlog in excess of $10,000,000.00. Your company has always fulfilled its contractual obligations.

Currently our bonding needs are being handled by Darwin National Assurance Company. They are a federally approved Treasury Listed Surety with a current A.M. Best Rating of A, Excellent. We are currently in excellent standing with our bonding company. I would not anticipate a problem in being able to continue to provide surety support for jobs in the aforementioned range, or larger should a specific need arise.

I would like to thank you for giving me the opportunity to handle your company's bonding needs and I appreciate the working relationship we have developed. The open line of communication coupled with the responsiveness of you and your staff definitely makes my job easier.

I look forward to a continued successful working relationship.

Sincerely,
