Re: Roof Services Corporation

To Whom It May Concern:

Roof Services Corporation has been providing quality roofing and siding services to our firm for over twenty (20) years. Their expertise includes every aspect of commercial roofing applications utilized in today's markets including single-ply membranes, built-up roofing, modified bitumen roofing, standing seam metal roofing and even the new "Living Green Roof" systems being used on many sustainable design projects.

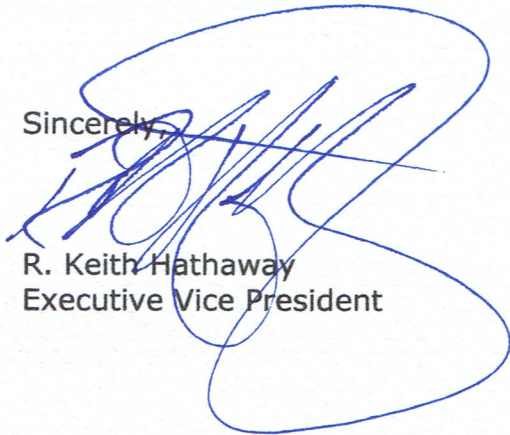

In addition to the basic roofing system work they provide, Roof Services also fabricates and installs composite aluminum wall panels systems. These beautiful panels, which come in an array of metallic colors, are seen on many of today's high-end building designs. Most all foreign and domestic automobile dealerships are now utilizing these panels in the new "Branding" designs of their showroom facilities.

Roof Services is also a certified installer of the "Loadmaster" composite integral roof deck assembly system. This system provides a structural substrate for many types of roofing applications while providing the economics of fire resistance, thermal conductivity and sound insulation. This system has been installed by Roof Services on several regional school projects that our firm has completed.

We feel that the foundation for the quality of services provided by Roof Services begins with their people. John Babcock and Gary Rogacki have developed a team of professionals that are dedicated to meeting the needs of every client. From pricing to the finished product, their people insure that the needs of every client are met throughout the process. Backed by a top-notch service department and a rock solid warranty program, Roof Services strives to guarantee each and every roof they install.

Our firm looks forward to many more successful projects with Roof Services Corporation and we would highly recommend them to you on your next project!

Sincerely,
