Re: Our new building in Tucson

Dear Dominic,

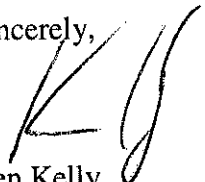

We are now settled into our new building. The many details of moving in, setting up shelving, stocking the store and getting open for business are now behind me. It is time to reflect on the entire design and construction process.

First, we are very proud of our new building. It is a handsome building and the quality of construction is evident. Several of our customers have commented the building is very nice. It is pleasing to hear unsolicited compliments; you should also be pleased.

But there is more to the construction process than just a nice building. This is where Landmark Builders stands out from other contractors. Your understanding of our needs during the design process and during construction is what made the final product great. Your awareness of our budget and cost saving alternatives allowed us to stay within our budget but get the building we wanted.

In conclusion, it is hoped we can soon do another project together. I am happy to recommend Landmark Metal Builders to anyone who understands the value of a great general contractor.

Sincerely,

Ken Kelly
