Walsh Butt Joint Venture has a contract to renovate the WPAFB Medical Center / Hospital. This project is challenging in many ways. We must work closely with the Med Group who operates the Hospital and the Army Corps of Engineers who administer the contract. Patient health and safety of all the Med Center workers are greatly affected by our construction activities. Worker compliance with safety rules and regulations are critical to the success of the project. Early 2013 our company was looking at ways to improve the safety culture on this challenging project. We contracted with Pro Active Safety to bring an additional temporary safety professional on staff to add to our safety program and to improve our safety culture.

Working with Bridget for eight weeks was successful. During the time Bridget was with us she worked closely with our subcontractors to improve the Daily Task Hazard Analysis that we require of all our contractors. Most companies would call this a Job Safety Analysis. I found Bridget to self motivated and eager work with our workers. She is knowledgeable about safety requirements and OSHA regulations. Bridget was very willing to help with any task that was needed. Bridget spent much time walking the site working closely with our workers inspecting, correcting and instructing. I believe Bridget has helped raise awareness and importance of safe work practices on our project.

Thank You Bridget for all your hard work,

Bob Robinson, CHST
